LAST TIME OUT...

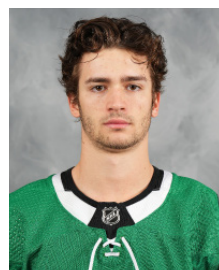

The Texas Stars surrendered four consecutive goals in a 4-2 loss to the Grand Rapids Griffins in a two-game series finale on Friday night at Van Andel Arena.

Matthew Seminoff put the Stars in the score column first by lifting a shot over Sebastian Cossa in a one-on-one opportunity for his first career AHL goal at 18:06 of the first period.

In the second period, Fredrik Karlstrom shoveled a pass from Oskar Back past Cossa to make it 2-0 Stars at 4:27. Tyler Spezia cut the Griffins' deficit to one at 7:11 by passing the puck off a Stars' defender and behind Matt Murray to make it 2-1. Grand Rapids eventually grabbed its first lead of the night late in the middle frame with a pair of goals scored by Carter Mazur and Antti Tuomisto 1:06 apart at 17:44 and then 18:50.

The third period saw the Stars fire five shots in Cossa's direction, but he denied each attempt before Jonatan Berggren capitalized on an empty net in the final seconds to seal a 4-2 victory for the Griffins.

Cossa improved to 3-5-2 on the season by picking up the win after making 26 saves on 28 shots. For the Stars, Murray came down with the loss to fall to 8-3-1 on the year after allowing three goals on 23 shots in the contest.

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

Matthew Seminoff scored his first career AHL goal on Friday in the Stars' 4-2 loss to the Grand Rapids Griffins at Van Andel Arena. What served as the first goal in the contest marked the Leesburg, Virginia, native's fourth point of the season. In 21 games, Seminoff has posted four points with a goal and three assists. Additionally, the right-handed forward is among the Stars most-disciplined players this year. Seminoff has just one minor penalty this season. He was drafted in the sixth round, 179th overall by Dallas in the 2022 NHL Draft.

THE HEAD-TO-HEAD

Tonight marks the fifth of eight games this season between the Stars and Wolves as well as the third of four to be played in Illinois.

This season's series between Texas and Chicago began with the Stars thumping the Wolves 7-3 on Oct. 18 before winning 3-2 in a shootout on Oct. 22.

In last season's series, Texas dominated Chicago to the tune of a 3-1 mark at home and on the road for a 6-2 record overall.

In the eight games last season, Texas totaled 33 goals and surrendered 17 to Chicago for a plus-16 in goal differential.

SERIES HISTORY

Texas and Chicago have met 82 times in history, with the Stars holding a 47-29-3-3 advantage in the all-time series.

Additionally, the Stars carry a 25-14-0-3 all-time road record against the Wolves into Saturday's game.

In terms of goal differential, the Stars possess a plus-36 advantage with a 270-234 margin over the Wolves.

In the first-ever meeting between the Wolves and Stars back on Oct. 31, 2009, in Cedar Park, Texas routed Chicago 4-1. Current Texas Stars Assistant Coach Maxime Fortunus recorded an assist on the Stars' game-winning goal.

NEWS & NOTES

A BUMP IN THE ROAD

The Texas Stars wrap up another three-game road stretch on Saturday night when they take on the Chicago Wolves at Allstate Arena. The Stars opened the excursion by splitting a series at Grand Rapids, winning 2-0 on Wednesday night before surrendering four consecutive goals to fall 4-2 in the finale on Friday night. Texas is looking to continue its winning ways away from home on Saturday night. So far in four games this year against the Wolves, the Stars are 4-0, which includes a 2-0 mark in a pair of games played in Illinois already.

The Stars have been one of the best road teams in the American Hockey League this season. In 13 road tests so far, Texas is 9-4-0-0 and owns a .692 winning percentage, which stands at sixth in the league. Additionally, the Stars have mustered up 49 goals in road games, which ranks second in the AHL this season.

A GLITCH IN THE MATRIX

The Stars' offensive production in the series at Grand Rapids was nothing near the norm for this season's squad. Texas entered the series last Wednesday having posted four or more goals in five straight games. Instead of continuing the trend in either game, Wednesday saw Texas rely on solid defense and elite goaltending by Remi Poirier, who stopped all 26 shots he faced to earn his first career AHL shutout in the 2-0 victory. Then on Friday, the Stars scored the first two goals before surrendering four straight and falling 4-2. It marked just the fifth and sixth times this season that the Stars were held to less than three goals in a game. However, Wednesday's affair marked Texas' first time coming out on top while doing so.

More often than not, the Stars have been know to score four or more goals in a game. Texas has only lost twice when posting four or more tallies in games this year. The success in putting the puck in the net has come consistently following the slow start in Opening Weekend. Since that series, where Texas dropped back-to-back games 3-2 and 2-1 to Tucson at home, the Stars have scored three or more goals in 17 of 21 games, and scored four or more goals 14 times. Texas leads the AHL with 93 goals in 23 games for an average of 4.04 goals per game.

More impressively, it has been well over a year since the Stars were last shutout. The last time it occurred was May 6, 2022, when Texas was blanked, 1-0, by Arvid Soderblom of the Rockford IceHogs, who made 36 saves during the Central Division First Round of the Calder Cup Playoffs. However, the last time it happened to Texas during a regular season game was Apr. 10, 2022, vs. Iowa while the Stars fired 38 shots in Zane McIntyre's direction. Including Poirier's 26-save showing on Wednesday evening, the Stars have recorded five regular-season shutouts since McIntyre accomplished the feat in 2022.

WHAT'S UP WITH THE TOP?

In a rare occurrence, the Texas Stars' November award recipients, Mavrik Bourque (AHL Player of the Month) and Logan Stankoven (AHL Rookie of the Month), were both held off the scoresheet in back-to-back games at Grand Rapids for the first time this season. As linemates skating together, the dynamic duo has played a large part in Texas owning the top spot in the AHL's Central Division with 31 points backed by a 14-6-2-1 record.

Bourque, 21, leads the AHL with 32 points (8-24=32) in 23 games played this season. On Nov. 29 at San Diego, Bourque had a career night, accumulating a career-high four points with four assists in the Stars' 6-5 overtime victory. He ran it back last Friday and Saturday, posting six points (1-5=6) in last weekend's series vs. Chicago. The Plessisville, Quebec, native also leads the league with 24 assists. A major threat on the Stars' third-ranked power play, Bourque is tied for first in the AHL with 11 power-play helpers this year.

Stankoven, 20, matched a franchise record by extending his point streak (8-8=16) to 11 games last Saturday before having it snapped on Wednesday in Grand Rapids. Texas' top rookie is arguably the best among AHL first-year players. He leads rookies in points (29), goals (14), first goals (5) and plus-minus (+13). On top of that, the Kamloops Blazers product also checks in at a tie for second among rookies in assists (15), a tie for third in power-play helpers (6) and is tied for fourth among rookies in power-play tallies (4) behind his special teams linemate Kyle McDonald, who has five power-play goals (tied for 1st in AHL).

SPUTTERING SPECIAL TEAMS

Despite owning the American Hockey League's third-most productive power play, which possesses a 22.5 percent (24-for-103) success rate, the Stars have struggled the last two weeks with the advantage. While having 24 chances with the man advantage in their last six games, the Stars have only buried three power-play goals. As a result, Texas has seen its once top-rated power play fall to third in the AHL based on percentage. In addition, during the six-game stretch, the Stars have been held without a power-play goal four times. The two times Texas did score were both on home ice on last weekend against the Chicago Wolves. The Stars went 2-for-8 on Friday and 1-for-6 on Saturday. The Stars have scored at least one goal with the advantage 14 times in 23 games. When doing so, Texas is 9-3-1-1 this season.

On the opposite end, the Stars own the AHL's 16th-best penalty kill given that it has only surrendered eight power-play goals in 46 times being shorthanded. In its last five games, Texas has only had one perfect night on the kill (Dec. 13 at GR, 3-for-3). The Stars were 2-for-3 on the penalty kill in their last game on Friday night at Grand Rapids.

NEIL GRAHAM - Head Coach (5th Season)

Neil Graham was promoted to head coach of the Texas Stars on December 10, 2019 to fill the vacancy left by Derek Laxdal who was promoted to assistant coach of the Dallas Stars the same day. The following night he earned his first win as the head coach of the Stars, a 3-1 victory over Manitoba. He went on to finish the shortened season with an 18-15-2-2 record at the helm. Graham was previously hired as assistant coach of the Stars on July 8, 2019, joining the team for his first stint of coaching at the American Hockey League level. Graham, 38, led the Stars to their first Calder Cup playoff appearance since 2018 in 2021-22, ending with a first round loss to Rockford. He guided Texas to the top of the Central Division in 2022-23, as the Stars won their first division title since 2014. The Stars swept Rockford in the 2023 division semifinals before coming up just short against Milwaukee in the division finals.

Before making the move to Cedar Park, Texas, he served as head coach of the Idaho Steelheads, the ECHL affiliate of the Dallas Stars, from 2015 to 2019. Over that span, he amassed a 166-91-31 record in 288 regular-season contests and led Idaho to three consecutive 40-win seasons and guided the Steelheads to the Kelly Cup Playoffs in all four of his campaigns at the helm.
